► Write for Your Audience

Effective Messages Are Student-Centered and Student-Friendly

Tone Should Focus on Students and Their Goals, Not Rules or Policies

Impersonal Copy

“Whitehouse University cares about your success and offers a number of resources for students in need of additional support. Students have found the tutoring center to be critical in improving their GPA for admission into certain selective programs.”

Student-Centered Copy

“I care about your success and noticed that your math midterm grade is not up to standards for the Business School, which you want to apply for next semester. You should schedule an appointment with the tutoring center.”

50% Increase in response rate (Royall recruitment campaign)

Language Should Be Clear to All Students (Including ESL)

► Reduce multisyllabic words

“Exempted” → “Do not need to”

► Remove passive voice

“If you are contacted by your advisor” → “If your advisor contacts you”

► Translate jargon

“Non-credit-bearing” → “Does not count for credit”

► Ensure readability

► Don't Ignore Your CTA

The Call to Action Is Critical, but It's Often the Hardest Part to Get Right

Worksheet: Student Communications Audit

Purpose of the Tool

This worksheet will help you identify common missteps that prevent students from understanding and acting on emails from the university. It's designed as a group or independent activity to ensure student-friendly communications.

1. Identify the purpose of the message. What is it meant to teach the student or get them to do?

2. Assess readability by copying and pasting the message into the Gunning-Fog Index online tool: www.gunning-fog-index.com. Then fill in the following information.

Gunning-Fog Index Score
Recommended score: 10 or lower

Number of Words
Recommended number: <200 words

Number of 3+ Syllable Words
Recommended number: <20 words

3. Use the rubric below to assess the effectiveness of the message's copy.

	Yes	No
Based on question 2, is the message readable for the average student?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Does the message avoid passive voice? (e.g., "must be completed by students")	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Does the message address the student as "you" and appeal to their motivation?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Does the message include a clear, explicit next step or call to action?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

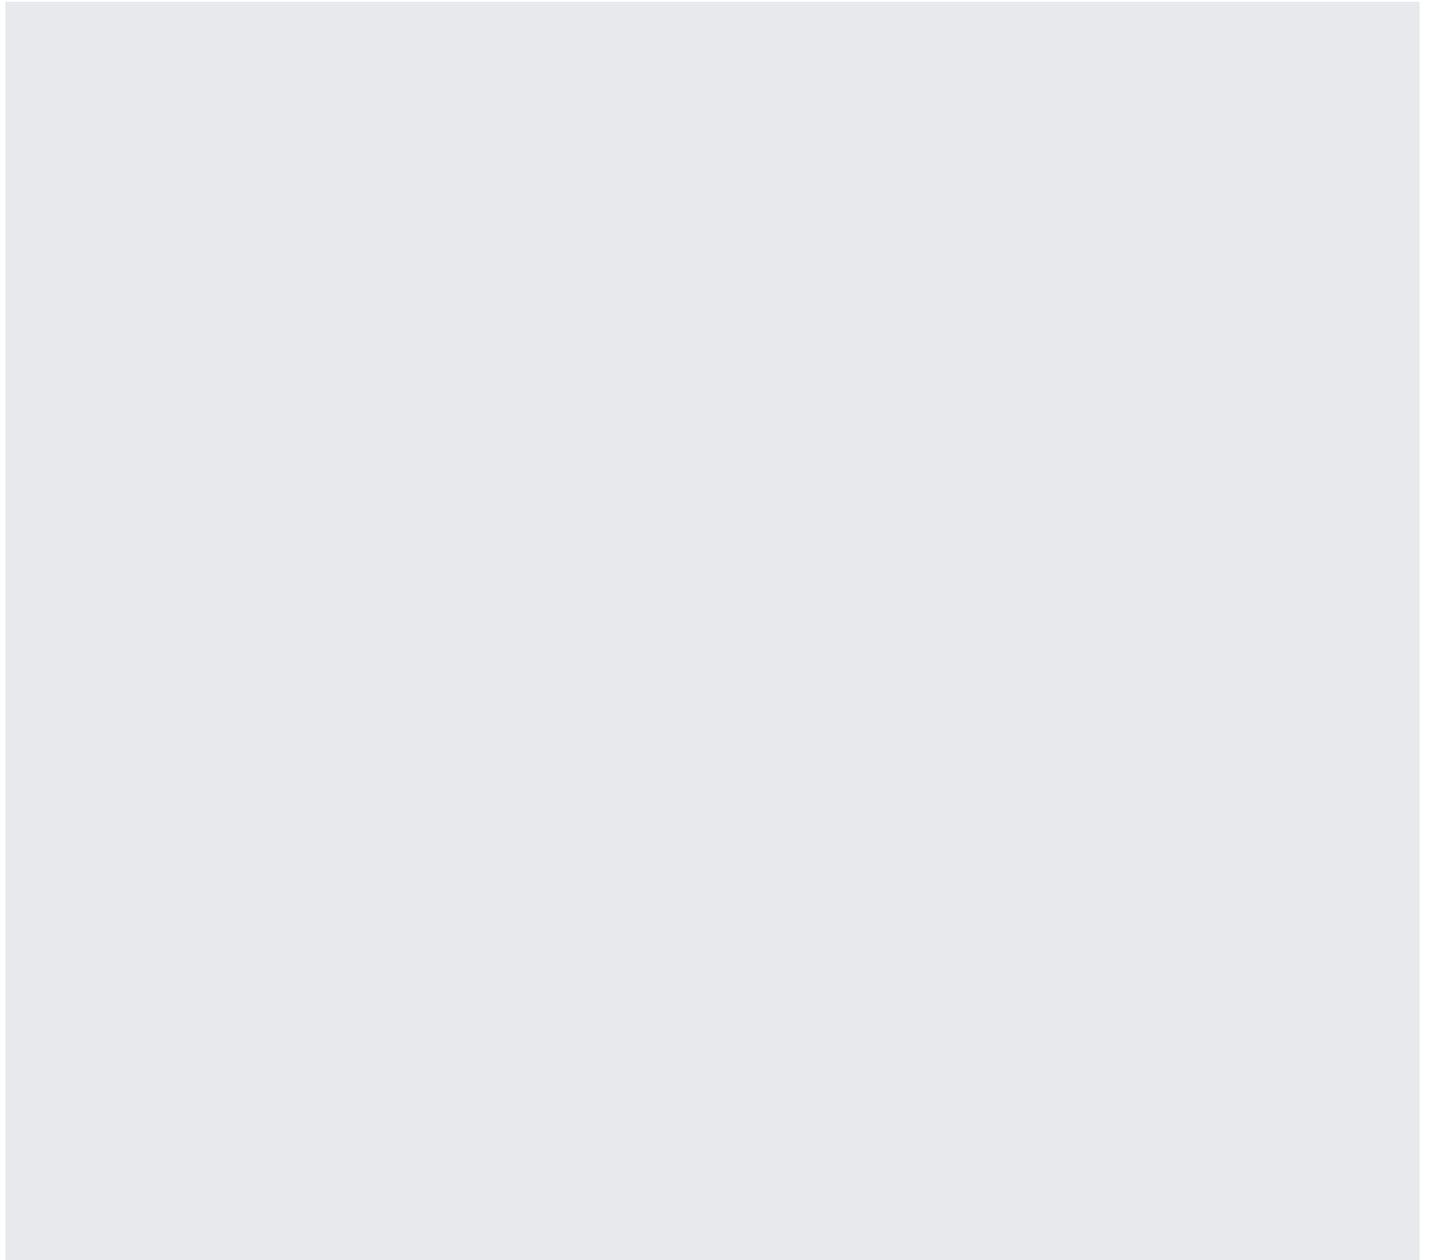

4. Identify jargon in the message (words of three or more syllables that someone outside of higher education might not know). Translate jargon into plain-speak explanations.

Jargon	Translation
e.g., Prerequisite	e.g., a course you must complete before X

Word Bank: Common Higher Education Jargon
prerequisite	bursar
disbursement	deficit
subsidized	registrar
dismissal	eligibility
probation	audit
academic standing	misconduct

5. Based on the audit you just completed, revise the message by removing passive voice, appealing to the student's motivation, and including clear next steps. Remove jargon where possible; if you must include jargon, ensure there is sufficient context for the student to understand it.

Subject: You qualify for our new program!

Dear <FirstName>,

Welcome back! We hope that you had an amazing summer and that you are rested up and ready to start the fall 2017 semester.

As you know, the nursing program has a competitive admissions process based upon grades earned. Over that last couple of years, the average cumulative GPA for students accepted to the nursing program has been 3.7 and above. You are receiving this email because we've noticed that your cumulative GPA is currently <GPA 3.0 to 3.5>, which qualifies you to take advantage of our new program designed to give pre-nursing students an additional layer of support by meeting with a specialized advisor.

I am writing to follow up about an email I sent a week ago. Most science-related industries generally look for students with a 2.8 GPA or higher. I noticed that you currently have a <Cumulative GPA >2.5>. I would like to meet with you in person to discuss your goals and create action steps together. Please use the link below on or before Wednesday, October 22, to schedule an appointment during the week of October 27.

If you have decided to switch majors, please respond to this email and let me know so that I can work with you to ensure that the department does not put an advising hold on your account.

Have a great day!

If you need assistance, please let me know.

▶ Student Who Made a Successful Major Change

Subject: Excited for your new journey!

Hi FirstName,

I noticed that you successfully changed your major from Mechanical Engineering to Environmental Studies. Congratulations!

As we discussed, I think this major is a great fit for you based on your interest in alternative energy and sustainability issues, and your strong performance in your science classes to date.

Are you familiar with the career services office? I recommend you visit them to learn more about opportunities in the field of sustainability. If you are interested, let me know before the end of May and I can put you in touch with one of my colleagues who is a career counselor there.
